2009 Sacramento County Fair Gets The Fun Started On The Right Foot!

SACRAMENTO, CA –The fun is heating up at Cal Expo! Final preparations are underway for the 73rd annual Sacramento County Fair. The event –beginning on Friday, May 21st and running through Memorial Day, promises an abundance of affordable entertainment for the entire family to enjoy.

“Simple pleasures are priceless, and we understand how important it is for families to enjoy quality time,” said T.J. Plew, Manager of the Sacramento County Fair. “The fair offers activities that will hopefully create special moments for children, and bring back fond memories for parents and grandparents alike.”

The Sacramento County Fair features competitions showcasing talent from our region, arts and crafts displays, agricultural exhibits, a carnival with 30 thrilling rides, and of course, an assortment of food ranging from traditional fair favorites to contemporary cuisine.

Local bands and musicians will get your summer rockin’ and rollin’ on two stages this year. Each night, talented artists are guaranteed to impress audiences including:

- Mother Mayhem, One Eyed Rhino, Brian Curtis and The High Pilots
- Hypnotic Comedy by Tyzen and Spike’s Extreme Juggling
- Youth dance groups, local vocalists, choirs and athletes

The excitement is happening across the fairgrounds: a variety of enjoyable acts, such as Las Vegas Magician Will Roya, the Fido 500 Miniature Dog Races and the popular Sacramento County Fair Demolition Derby will make the day fly by. Best of all, the price for hours of entertainment won’t leave you sweating it out: children 0-12 years old, and seniors 62 and older get in the fair for FREE. Otherwise, admission for adults is $3 and parking is $10. Tickets for the carnival begin at just 95 cents with limited special deals for an unlimited ride wristband.
